BUILDERS & REMODELERS

Having grown up learning the construction trade from parents Bruce and Sharon Bellamy, Greg and Brian Bellamy's decision to enter the family business was not only a right of passage but a decision inspired by a true appreciation for building. The Scotia-based business, B.W. Bellamy & Sons Construction, now Bellamy Construction, was started in 1975.

Today the company that started out solely as a remodeling firm has grown into a business that offers a diverse range of services including excavation, trenchless technology, custom homes, remodeling and general home improvement. Much like the husband and wife team that founded Bellamy Construction, team Bellamy has grown to include Greg and Brian's wives, Katie and Tanya along with approximately 24 other employees.

Bellamy Construction's reputation of being family-owned and providing superior customer service is what has made them one of the area's most trusted construction companies for more than 30 years. Remodeling Magazine inducted Bellamy to its Remodeling Big50 for impact on community, professionalism, integrity and taking the lead in raising the industry standards.

One of the company's greatest strengths — besides extraordinary craftsmanship — is to offer its clientele a single point of contact, i.e., working one-on-one with homeowners through the process of zoning, building permits, design, product selection and construction.

The family-owned and operated Crawford Door and Window Sales has been serving customers since 1946. Crawford is the largest full-time Pella window and door distributor in New York, serving 37 counties. Crawford has stores in Albany, Ithaca, Johnson City, Kingston, Plattsburgh, and Queensbury, with headquarters in Rensselaer. The 63-year-old upstate New York company recently added a new Pella Window Store at 2743 Erie Boulevard E. in Syracuse, the result of a purchase of the Central New York Pella dealership.

"The services we offer to the business community include expert consultation, detailed project coordination from order inception to delivery, as well as the best post-delivery service in the industry," according to company president Matthew MaLossi. "Our goal is to establish and maintain relationships with building professionals and to provide everything from blueprint analysis to expert fenestration consultation," he said.

All Crawford stores are staffed by factory-trained personnel. "They work with builders, contractors and architects from start to finish ensuring complete customer satisfaction," Mr. MaLossi said, adding: "We become a partner in projects, offering unique solutions that are perfectly matched to a project. And, our best warranties are at the top of the industry." Pella windows and doors are at the forefront of technological advancement and set industry standards for quality.

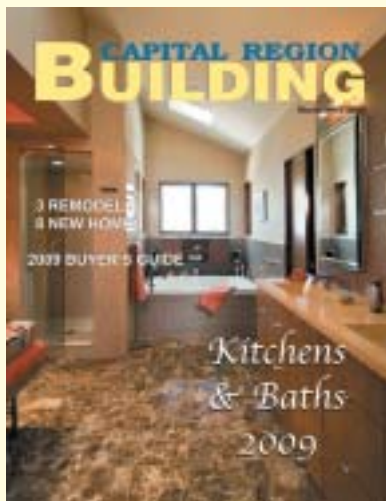

In August, Pella Corporation earned the J.D. Power and Associate award for "Highest in Customer Satisfaction among Window and Patio Door Manufacturers" for the third consecutive year. The award is based on an independently conducted study in which consumers are asked to evaluate window brands on product and service attributes. In-house door shop now open at Curtis Lumber

EXTERIOR PRODUCTS

Curtis Lumber is again operating an in-house door shop at their headquarters location on Rt. 67 in Ballston Spa, NY.

After purchasing pre-hung interior door units for several years from various manufacturers and wholesalers, Curtis Lumber decided it was in their best interest to get back into producing their own interior door units. Builders and contractors have much to gain from this decision because Curtis Lumber will again have complete control of the manufacture and delivery of their interior door units.

Doors are manufactured, loaded on trucks, and delivered directly to the job site, minimizing handling and the chance for damage. Curtis Lumber's door units are superior to others in many ways and hands-on fabrication enables more attention to quality control. The easy to install units ensure happy customers from profitable jobs, on-time closings and quick problem resolution.

Curtis Lumber's major supplier of the interior doors is Masonite, a well-known and respected manufacturer of top quality doors. Curtis' door units include computerized miter-stitching for applied casings cut to all patterns. Solid bases on units, rather than two pieces of furring, ensuring square units every time. Pre-drilled hinges eliminate cracking and splitting.

Give Curtis Lumber, people you know and trust, a try on your next interior door unit order and you will experience extra attention to details on your order, on-time – in-full delivery, variety, flexibility, and competitive pricing!

Curtis Lumber, your locally owned, full service independent retailer since 1890, now with 22 convenient locations! Visit our website at www.curtislumber.com for a complete list of locations and services.

Earl B Feiden Inc. was founded in 1926 in Latham, New York. The Feiden family is a local pioneer in the appliance business. Our business has evolved from an ice farm and coal business of the early 1900s. Ice was sawed from the family pond and stored in an ice house awaiting delivery to local homes for use in their ice box. The farm was located on Watervliet-Shaker Road in Latham where the original house still stands. Our current location on Route 9 at the Latham Circle was constructed in 1947 to accommodate the growing demand for electric appliances and radios.

In 1986, as our family business continued to grow, we opened a second location in historic Kingston, New York to serve the Mid-Hudson Valley region. The addition of this location enabled our business to attract customers throughout the entire Hudson Valley including the Adirondack Region, eastern New York and western New England.

Earl B Feiden Inc. is a full-service appliance store that offers sales, service, delivery and custom installation by a factory trained and authorized staff. We carry over 50 brands of appliances ranging from all the traditional brands to state of the art professional equipment. Some brands are available exclusively at Earl B. Feiden Inc. Our company prides itself on the ability to offer customers the pricing of a big box store with the service our generations of customers have come to expect.

Today, our business is proudly celebrating its 84th anniversary. The Feiden family continues to own and operate our business with the same dedication to customer service our company was founded on.
